SALVE REGINA BAND AND CHORUSES TO PERFORM IN CHRISTMAS CONCERT

The Salve Regina College band and combined choruses will perform in a Christmas concert, titled "We Need...Christmas," on Saturday, December 13 at 8:00 p.m. The concert is part of Newport's annual Christmas in Newport celebration. Originally scheduled to be held for two nights in Ochre Court, the concert has been shifted to the Rogers High School Auditorium.

The Salve Regina band, under the direction of Bruce Abbott, and the combined choruses conducted by Brother James Loxham, will offer a variety of Christmas music including "We Need a Little Christmas," "The Holly and the Ivy," "Sleigh Ride," "Carol of the Bells," "Do You Hear What I Hear?" "The Hallelujah Chorus," and "Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas."

Richard Carbotti, part-time art instructor at Salve Regina and design director of Perfect Surroundings in Newport, will decorate the stage for the one-night performance. Carbotti has been recognized twice in "Town and Country" magazine as one of America's foremost gala and special events designers.

DANCE MARATHON RAISES $2300 FOR SHAKE-A-LEG

Salve Regina's Sixth Annual Dance Marathon, held November 14 and 15, raised over $2,300 for Shake-A-Leg, the Newport-based, non-profit organization.

Members of Salve Regina's Student Life Senate inaugurated the dance marathon in 1981 as an event to bring together the student body to help charity. For each of the six years a non-profit, charitable organization has been chosen by the students as the recipient of all the funds raised.

Under the leadership of executive director Harry Horgan, Shake-A-Leg's main purpose is to serve the victims of physical trauma with emphasis placed on spinal cord and related nervous system impairments. Shake-A-Leg supports pioneering efforts in treatment approaches, spinal cord research, technological innovations and increased public knowledge of human potential for well-being.
