One of my first memories of entering Salve was finding my first dorm room in McAuley Hall was set up for seven freshmen. Yes, I had six roomies! No one entering college today could ever envision that scenario. My bed was next to Andy Arcand who would become my best friend and roomie the rest of my four years.

The construction of Miley Hall and then the new Science Building O'Hare were major changes as the school grew during these years. We missed our classes in Ochre Court, learning that modern buildings were the new norm.

A favorite memory was hosting my dad for Father-Daughter weekend. He loved being alone with me (no mothers)! We ate, danced, laughed and enjoyed an evening at Sully's with other dads. The best weekends ever!

Life was good. The ideals of Salve have continued to inspire me over the next 50 years! Yes, 50 years, an unbelievable thought!
