Student Activity

Robert Kulo (Theatre) announces the dates of future Readers Theatre performances: Under Milk Wood, December 6 - 7, and the Hobbit, March 14 and 15. Some performances of Charlotte's Web for elementary school children are being considered also.

Do you want to be a part of this activity? If you want to get involved, contact Bob Kulo at his office in O'Hare, #204, or students Pam Sinyei and Margaret Allen.

Faculty News

If any faculty member has information that deserves to be announced in a press release, he/she is invited to submit the news-worthy item to the PR office. Forms for this purpose will be available in the office of the faculty secretary, in the near future. In the meantime, contact the PR office directly.

News-worthy items may be news tips, announcements, or possible material for feature-type articles. Glossy pictures are an asset, and, if available, should be included.

Admissions Office

Miss Betsy Mathison, a 1972 SRC graduate and a Newport resident, has joined the admissions office staff, where she will work as an admissions counselor. She and Ken Binder, who is also an admissions counselor, will attend the College Day program at La Salle Academy, Providence, on September 24. Representatives from twenty-eight New England Catholic colleges, and the public and private Rhode Island colleges, will be in attendance.

Each college day is an attempt to acquaint students and parents with the range of collegiate opportunities and academic areas of study offered by the participating institutions.

The high school days originally scheduled for October 21 and 23rd have been cancelled.

Public Relations Office

Nina Kulikowski and Lynn McGroary will be working for the public relations office.
