FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

November 1970

Some 250 fathers from a dozen states are expected to be on the Salve Regina College campus this weekend (Nov. 7-8) for the ninth annual Father-Daughter Weekend of the women's college.

The visiting Dads will join their daughters in a round of activities including tours, receptions, classroom visitation, speeches, an annual business meeting, dinner, and dance.

Sponsored by the Salve Regina Fathers Council, the weekend begins with registration and a coffee hour in Ochre Court Saturday morning and ends with the traditional Sunday brunch following a Mass in the College Chapel.

A focal point of the in-between-time will be "A Kaleidoscope of Learning," a series of special presentations by several of the College's academic departments, admissions office, and Christian Life Center.

Another highlight will be a Dads and Daughters Dinner at The Coachmen, Tiverton, and a dance in the fabled Great Hall of Ochre Court, Salve Regina's original building on the Cliff Walk above the Atlantic Ocean.

A program called "Something Special" will be sung by the College's glee club, under the direction of Glenn Giuttari, Providence, during the dance intermission.

President of the Fathers Council this year is Edwin F. Mara, North Providence. Other officers include the Hon. Antonio S. Almeida, Cumberland, vice president; William F. Costello, Cranston, secretary; and W. Wallace Mathison, Newport, treasurer.
