FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

January 1971

Detective William F. Hobson, a ten year veteran with the Cumberland Police Department, has been elected to the position of treasurer on the Salve Regina College Law Enforcement Policy Advisory Committee at a recent meeting held at the Newport College. Detective Hobson is also a student in the school's law enforcement degree program.

One of the primary functions of the committee, according to Dr. Lester Carr, Vice President for Academic Affairs, is to aid the college in its effort to keep its programs relevant to the needs of police in our contemporary society. The advice and recommendations of the committee are strongly considered in many areas, including the development and modification of curriculum.

The chairman and vice-chairman of the committee, respectively, are Raymond J. Lavertue, Sr., of the East Providence Police Department and Chief Stanley Gontarz of the Barrington Police Department. Mrs. Betsy Ray of the college staff was named secretary to the group.

Dr. Carr concluded by saying the committee, which meets on the first Monday of each month, is a representative group of the school's law enforcement college community.
