FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

January 1971

Three Fall River area educators have joined the faculty of Salve Regina College, Newport, R. I.

They are: Miss Maria E. Leandro, instructor of medical-surgical nursing; Sister Mary Lomax, R. S. M., instructor in the music division of the department of creative arts; and Mrs. Douglas F. MacPhail, instructor in biology.

Born in Fall River, Miss Leandro received her baccalaureate degree from Salve Regina, and her master of science degree in nursing education from Boston College. Prior to her current appointment, she served as a graduate nurse on the staffs of Truesdale Hospital, Fall River, Mass., and the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center, New York City. Miss Leandro is a member of a number of professional organizations, including both the Massachusetts and American Nursing Associations and Sigma Phi Sigma National Honor Society.

A native of Fall River, and a graduate of Catholic University, Sr. Mary Lomax is presently a candidate for a master of arts degree there. Prior to her current appointment, she was principal at Mercymount Country Day School's junior high.

Sister Mary is a member of the American Guild of Organists. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Lomax, 72 Snell St., Fall River, Mass.

Born in New Bedford, Mrs. MacPhail earned her baccalaureate degree and her master of science degree at Purdue University. Prior to her current appointment, she had served as a medical technology laboratory supervisor in Waukegan, Ill., and a medical technologist in Westwood, N. J.
