KUDOS

Dr. John F. Quinn, chairman of the board of trustees, has announced the election of three new members. They are: James C. Colton, Newport, executive vice president and treasurer of the M.A. Gammino Construction Co., Providence; Jeremiah C. Lynch, Jr., Newport, partner in the Newport law firm of Moore, Virgadamo, Boyle & Lynch; and George H. Piltz, Middletown, R.I., president of The Newport National Bank. A graduate of the University of Rhode Island, with a master of business administration degree from Harvard Business School, Mr. Colton is also a member of the board of trustees of the Providence Lying In Hospital and the Preservation Society of Newport County. Mr. Lynch, a Newport native, received his bachelor of arts degree from Providence College, and his law degree at Harvard Law School. He was a member of the Newport City Council in 1959 and 1960, and a member of the Rhode Island House of Representatives from 1961 to 1966. Mr. Piltz, a Northeastern University alumnus, joined The Newport National Bank in 1939, became its vice president in 1951, and its president last August. A former member of the board of trustees at St. Michael's School, Newport, Mr. Piltz was once president of the Newport Chamber of Commerce. With the new members, the board now numbers five religious and seven lay trustees.

New officers of the Providence Chapter of the SRC Alumnae Association are: Mrs. Ruth R. Toolan '64, president; Mrs. Rosemary D. Hess '60, vice president; Miss Eileen Farrelly '58, secretary; and Miss Mary Lou Donnelly '66, treasurer.

Sister Mary Joannes Griffin, associate professor of nursing, has been elected a member of the PR sub-committee of Diet Counseling Service of R.I., an organization designed to give therapeutic diet counseling to patients referred by physicians, and to provide a resource center for the community. The center will furnish information, on referrals by physicians, concerning food purchases, preparation, and service in the interest of good nutrition. Sister Mary Joannes is also serving as chairman of public relations for the Rhode Island Dietetic Association.

Three R.I. policemen have been elected to positions on the College's Law Enforcement Policy Advisory Committee. Detective Raymond J. Lavertue, head of the East Providence Police Department's Community Relations Unit, and an instructor in the College's LE program, will serve as the committee's chairman. Barrington Police Chief Stanley Gontarz, also an LE instructor, will be vice chairman, and Cumberland Detective William F. Hobson, an LE student, will be treasurer. The committee will assist the College in its effort to keep the LE program relevant to the needs of police in our contemporary society, according to Dr. Lester Carr, vice president for academic affairs. Mrs. Betsy Ray of the Continuing Education staff, will be the group's secretary.

The SRC library is most grateful for a $300.00 gift received from the Sears Roebuck Foundation as part of the Sears Aid to Education Program. Mr. John Pelletier, manager of the Sears Roebuck store in Middletown, presented the check to Sr. Mary Christopher, president.

More than 200 parents and other friends were on hand for the traditional capping ceremony for freshman nursing students in Ochre Court. Sister Mary Christopher, president, brought the greetings of the College. Other salutations and congratulations were delivered by Mrs. Dorothea P. Dutra, chairman, for the department of nursing; Stephanie DeSalvo, for the sophomore "sisters;" and Cynthia Donovan, for the freshman capees. Chairman of the planning committee was Diane Christy '74. A reception followed the ceremony.

Miss Rae K. O'Neill, assistant professor of education, was guest speaker at the February meeting of the Newport Chapter of American Association of University Women, held in Ochre Court. Her topic was: "Public Schools in Rhode Island: In What Direction?"

The Spanish Club recently entertained several foreign naval officers and their families who are presently attending the U.S. Naval War College in Newport. The invited guests were: Commanders Julian Ruiz de Gamiz, Spain; Sergio R. Alcarez, Paraguay; Jose Carcelen, Peru; Jose E. Cortinez, Argentina; Carlos H. Flores, Ecuador; Porfirio Lopez, Mexico; Jesus Alberto Meneses, Venezuela; and Guillermo Uribe, Colombia.

Rev. Christopher Johnson, O.P., chaplain, and director of the Christian Life Center, will celebrate a Spanish Mass in the chapel of Ochre Court every Sunday at 5 p. m.

THERE

A capacity audience of 130 alumnae from the R.I. and Southeastern Massachusetts chapters of the SRC Alumnae Association assembled at the Ramada Inn, Seekonk, for a special dinner meeting sponsored by the Providence chapter. Guest speaker at the gathering was Sister Mary Christopher, president, who gave a comprehensive "State of the College" address. Chairman of the dinner meeting was Mrs. Frank Toolan, Barrington, who is the new president of the Providence chapter.

Dr. Michael E. Werle, associate professor of psychology, and director of the counseling center, was a co-director for a 10-week course in intergroup and interpersonal relations offered to Warwick, R.I. elementary school teachers. The course was sponsored by the State Office of Equal Educational Opportunity.

Mrs. Dorothea P. Dutra, chairman of the department of nursing, will represent the College at the Fourth Annual Meeting of the American Association of Deans of College and University Schools of Nursing, in Washington, D.C. The primary focus of the meeting will be on Federal legislation for support of college and university schools of nursing.

Sister Mary Joannes Griffin, associate professor of nursing, lectured on nutrition to nursing students at R.I. Junior College, Providence.

Several present and former faculty members honored Sister Margaret Sorensen, former academic dean, at a dinner party at the Mount Hope Marina, Portsmouth. Sister Margaret was presented a set of jade jewelry pieces "in appreciation of her many kindnesses and actions toward the faculty."

Six Spanish majors have left for Spain where they will complete the second semester of their junior year at the University of Madrid. They are: Sue Castro, Nancy Castro, Mary Cimini, Mary Clark, Mary Pietrafitta and Mary Ann Pietraszek. They will join Leslie Friend and Karen Carmen who are there for the entire year.

Ronald C. Brinn, vice president for development and public relations, served as moderator for one of the general panel sessions at the 1971 District One Conference of the American Alumni Council. Some 350 alumni administrators and magazine editors, and educational fund raisers from 125 colleges and universities, junior colleges, and secondary schools attended the three day meeting in Hartford, Conn.

HERE AND THERE

NEW STUDENT AID LEGISLATION PROPOSED

Senator Claiborne Pell (D.-R.I.), H. '65, chairman of the Senate Education Subcommittee, has proposed legislation which would provide a Basic Educational Opportunity Grant to all eligible college students and the colleges they attend.

The amount of the grant to the student would be $1200 minus the amount of income tax paid by the student or the person on whom he is dependent. Cost-of-education allowances would be paid to institutions attended by students receiving grants and would amount to $1,000 less the tuition charged the student. Senator Pell's new student-aid proposal would be in addition to existing grant, loan, and work-study programs. His bill also proposes establishing an account in the Treasury to serve as a warehousing agent to assist private lenders obtain funds for guaranteed student loans.

The BEOG is part of an omnibus higher and vocational education bill which would also continue existing programs and incorporate two 1970 Administration proposals--to establish a National Foundation for Higher Education and a National Institute for Education.

No estimate was immediately available of the overall cost of Pell's proposal. At hearings last year, it was estimated that his student aid plan would cost $6.6 billion annually.

Interested members of the Salve Regina College community may write to Senator Pell or to the following Democratic members of the parent Labor & Public Welfare Committee who have joined him in co-sponsoring the bill: Chairman Harrison A. Williams (N.J.), Jennings Randolph (W. Va.), Edward M. Kennedy (Mass.), Gaylord Nelson (Wis.), Walter F. Mondale (Minn.), Thomas F. Eagleton (Mo.), Alan Cranston (Calif.), and Harold E. Hughes (Iowa).
