TO OUR GRADUATES

Across the country in the next few weeks, hundreds of men and women will be congratulated, encouraged and challenged as they receive degrees from colleges. To the Class of 1980 at The Newport College - Salve Regina we extend our congratulations and an expression of pride in what you are.

Our College emphasizes the development of one's best self through the use of talents in the service of others. As you reflect on your years in college, you can take pride in what you have learned and how you have shared what has been given to you.

As you begin a new phase of your lives may you bring with you the lessons learned, the friends made and the memories treasured from your student years. As Christian men and women concerned with the service of all people, you will respond to the challenges of this new decade.

We of the College Community ask God's blessings for each of you. May you always be faithful to the ideals you hold today!

ALUMNI AWARD

Highlight of the Alumni weekend will be the presentation of the First Annual Alumni Award to Mrs. Rachel Wheeler Rossow, mother of 11 handicapped children.

Mrs. Rossow and her husband, Carl, (Ellington, CT) are parents of three natural and 11 multiply handicapped adopted or permanently placed foster children. In 1974 a nonprofit corporation, Alpha and Omega, was founded by the Rossows to help them provide specialized nursing care and supervision in a family setting for handicapped children.

In a citation from the state of Rhode Island, Governor Joseph Garrahy commends Mrs. Rossow for "believing sincerely in the Family of Man" and for her "life-long commitment to improving the quality of life for handicapped children."

As the first recipient of The Newport College's Outstanding Alumni Award, Mrs. Rossow is cited for "bringing life and beauty out of suffering." She is a 1960 graduate of the College and holds a B.S. in nursing. Her background also includes a master of science degree in psychiatric mental-health nursing from Catholic University. In 1977 she served as a Connecticut delegate to the White House Conference on Handicapped Individuals. She currently serves on the Connecticut Developmental Disabilities Planning Council and the Advisory and Planning Council for Tolland Region.

PILOT SCIENCE PROJECT

Kevin Gregory, Eileen Delise, Cheryl Hopkins, Cecily Turnbull and Gail Valle recently accompanied Dr. Mary Louise Ide to Cluny School for a presentation to the seventh grade. Cecily Turnbull prepared a six page handout on the digestive and circulatory systems. The other students wore shirts illustrating the circulatory system.

Catherine Brassard, Linda DellaSpina, Valerie Swick, Rosanne Taylor and Patrice Mikolarjczak joined Dr. Ide and the other students in visiting the Newport County Regional Catholic School.

The program is part of a pilot project for which the College hopes to obtain a grant. The program is aimed at Science dissemination at two levels. The first level is aimed at science technology instruction in public and private schools. The second level will be the dissemination to the general public on matters of present day living.

At the schools after an introductory lesson, the students were divided into groups for some simple dissecting techniques. From the two groups visited so far, it seems that both the college team and elementary school children enjoyed the experience.
