SALVE JUNIOR WINS NATIONAL AWARD

Salve Regina College has won the Dr. Moses Leo Gitelson Leadership Award for the second time in a row. Linda Tessman of Bristol, Conn., a junior, is the first prize recipient of the leadership award. She was presented a certificate of award by Susan Aurelia Gitelson during the 12th Annual National Student Symposium in Washington D.C. on March 21. The symposium is sponsored by the Center for the Study of the Presidency. Senator Claiborne Pell was the main speaker at the awards presentation.

Last year Mark Gordon won the same prestigious award. This year he served as Fellow of the Center during the conference.

More than six hundred students representing most of the nation's colleges submitted essays. A politics major, Linda took the leadership award with her essay entitled: "Interdependence and Independence in the 1980's - Middle East and the United States." The Center also recognized ten other students for their essays. In addition to her certificate she was given $200 and two books, "The Autobiography of Gerald Ford" and "Mandate Goals for Administration."

Linda is a graduate of Bristol Eastern High School in Connecticut where she was elected to the National Honor Society. Through the American Institute for Foreign Study, Linda spent her 1980 fall semester abroad. She traveled to Munich, Germany and Salzburg, Austria. She attended the University of Salzburg where she studied German history and civilization.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Tessman of Bristol, Connecticut and plans to attend law school upon her graduation from Salve.

FACULTY NEWS

Sister Sheila Megley has spent the days since our own evaluation visit co-chairing a 38-member evaluation team at the University of Rhode Island.

Dr. William Burrell will chair a seven member accreditation team to evaluate Merrimack College in North Andover, Massachusetts, for the New England Association of Schools and Colleges, from March 29 through April 1, 1981.

Dr. Frank Maguire will deliver the key note address at the New England Conference of the Catholic Health Association on Sunday, March 29, 1981, at the Boston Sheraton Hotel. The theme of the conference is A Matter of Life and Death. The subject matter of Dr. Maguire's address will be "Prolonging Life Decisions: A Moral Responsibility in the Use and Non-Use of Extraordinary Measures." The liturgical celebrant will be Humberto Cardinal Medeiros; the homilist, the Most Reverend Robert E. Mulvee; the music, written and conducted by Dr. C. Alexander Peloquin.

Sr. M. Mauricita Stapleton will be attending the Spring Conference sponsored by the ACRL New England Chapter and New England College Librarians at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Massachusetts on March 26 and 27, 1981. Themes for the conference are continuing education for academic librarianship and academic libraries and the changing world of higher education.

Last Sunday, Dr. Daniel McGregor was a guest on WSAR Radio. He spoke on Special Education in the eighties. It was a four hour program. WSAR is a Fall River Radio Station.

French Faculty and Students Attend Colloquium

Three Salve faculty and two students attended the Second Annual Colloquium on French-Canadian culture. Stressing emigration to the U.S., speakers from Canadian and American universities described the economic, cultural, religious, and linguistic impact of the French Canadians on such cities as Fall River, Woonsocket, Central Falls, and Worcester. Attending from Salve were Sr. Marie Janelle, Marie Lacroix, Br. Gene Lappin, Brenda Nunes, and Cindy Sanders. The all-day colloquium ended with folk songs in French from the Quebec-New England region.

NON TRADITIONAL STUDENTS

There will be a meeting of all interested students on Saturday, April 11 from 10 a.m. to noon in the O'Hare Auditorium. Students will discuss their needs for academic support systems and special interests and needs as a group of "other than traditional students." We are particularly interested in establishing goals as a recognized college organization and electing leadership. Feel free to bring children since a supervised play session complete with cartoons, movies and refreshments is planned for them. For more information contact the College Resource Center, O'Hare Lobby, or Diane Caplin, Advising Office, extension 367.

GIFTED STUDENT CONFERENCE

A "Conference on the Gifted Student" will be held on Saturday, March 28, from 8:30 to 2:30 p.m. at Bristol High School, Bristol, R.I. Salve Regina College and five other educational organizations will be sponsoring the event. Dr. Daniel McGregor, associate professor of special education at Salve Regina and principal of the Maher Center in Newport, is master of ceremonies. Among the noted educators and specialists speaking on the subject of gifted children, will be Dr. Janice Cowsill, graduate faculty at Salve Regina and director of Pupil Personnel Services for the Newport Public Schools.

The Conference is open to the public. For more information about registration contact Kathryn Flood, Salve Regina College, Newport, R.I. 02840. Telephone 847-6650, extension 244.
