NOW YOU CAN SEE THE
REGINA PLAYERS ON TELEVISION

When the Regina Players presented "The Tidings Brought to Mary" by Paul Claudel on May first, the performance was described as "beautiful and sensitive." A newspaper review said: "Mary Corey as Violaine, and Norma Harkins as the impetuous and wilful Mara, both achieved a high artistic plane of portrayal, well seconded by the other players, including Thomas Fennessey as a very human Jacques."

Television station WTEV-TV (Channel 6), Television Center, New Bedford, Massachusetts, graciously offered its facilities to the College for the presentation of excerpts from the play. Last week Mary, Norma, and Tom accompanied Miss Joan David, Director of Dramatics, to the studio and taped the highlights of the play. These include Scene Two of Act Two, "The Fountain of Adoue," and Scene Two of Act Three, "Violaine's Cave."

N.B.
The program will be seen on WTEV-TV (Channel 6) NEXT WEDNESDAY, JUNE TENTH, 7:00 to 7:30 P.M. We hope it will be convenient for you to watch it at that time.

Because this is "prime time" we would like the management of WTEV-TV to know how very much we appreciate their cooperation. If many of you would write a short note or a postal card to either Mr. Vance Eckersley, General Manager, or Mr. Mann Reed, Operations Manager (who worked very closely with us both here on campus and at the studio), we feel certain that it would encourage the station to extend this courtesy to the College again next year.
