FACULTY

At last Friday's faculty meeting, Christopher M. Kiernan announced that Sister Roselina McKillop had accepted the position of Assistant to the Vice President/Students.

Sister Roselina has for the past two years held the position of Director of Computer Services at the College.

In her new position, she will assist Mr. Kiernan in both the overall development of enrollment and the integration of admissions and student service data systems.

In announcing her appointment, Mr. Kiernan told the faculty that because of Sister Roselina's innate talent, breadth of educational experience, and proven ability to work with students and their parents, he sought the opportunity to involve her in a more direct way in both the development of enrollment, as well as in student services.

Sister will begin her new responsibilities next week, though her complete separation from the Office of Computer Services will not take place until the numerous projects currently underway have been satisfactorily completed.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The first weekend workshop of this year's Atwood Lecture Series is scheduled to begin Friday, October 28 - Sunday, October 30. The series is designed to provide a cultural focus in the Newport community. Its aim is to reinforce and encourage the exchange of creative and philosophic ideas.

The theme of this year's series is "Philosophy and Poetry." The topic of the first weekend encounter is "Myth, Story and Poem in the Years 1100-1200 in Northern and Southern Europe." This creative theme will explore the use of mythical and religious symbolism in poetry and storytelling. Robert Bly and Gioia Timpanelli are the distinguished guest speakers.

Robert Bly is a well-known poet, storyteller and minstrel who lectures and offers poetry readings throughout the country. He has integrated Jungian and mythical perspectives in his distinctive poetry.

Gioia Timpanelli, one of the founders of the current storytelling revival, performs in the centuries-old tradition of storytellers who enlighten as well as entertain. Gioia has been a teacher, broadcaster, producer and writer of educational television for 14 years. She is the winner of two Emmy awards and will soon publish a book on folktales.

For further information about time and place please call: ext. 328 or 242.

The Seventh Annual Governor's Ball will be held on Saturday evening, December 3rd, at Ochre Court. The chairpersons of this year's gala are Mr. J. Joseph Kruse, Senior Vice President of Administration at Textron Inc., and Mrs. Marilyn Coccozza Kruse.

Invitations are available in the Development Office. Please call for one. Salve is counting on your support. We look forward to seeing you on December 3rd.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The annual College Open House is scheduled for Sunday, October 23. All indications point to another successful and well attended Open House this year.

Registration will take place in Ochre Court beginning at 12:00. The College slide show will be shown continuously at Ochre Court with refreshments being served. Tour guides will accompany prospective students and their parents around campus, leaving them at O'Hare Academic Center. There will be three half-hour presentations in academic areas, beginning at 1:30 p.m., 2:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. Students will also be able to meet with representatives from Residential Life, Athletics, Student Activities and College Placement.

Much of the success of past programs can be credited to the support of the faculty, staff and students. Once again we are asking for your help in extending a warm welcome to all those who will be visiting Salve Regina for the first time.

The entire College staff is most cordially invited to attend this event. Anyone who is interested in volunteering to assist with Open House for a few hours is asked to contact the Admissions Office, ext. 233.
