TO THE SALVE REGINA COLLEGE COMMUNITY

My past four years at Salve Regina have been very enjoyable ones. I have made a number of friends and experienced many rewarding professional associations. There is no doubt in my mind that the quality of the College is its people. I have been tremendously impressed with the dedication and high level of performance of faculty, staff and administrators.

Many thanks for the Salve rocking chair. Not only will I enjoy the comfort of the chair, but it will signify many fond memories of Salve and the special people here.

Best wishes to all and much success and happiness in the years to come.

Steve Painchaud

been consulting on environmental and special events projects in New York City, Atlanta, Miami and Newport.

Belinda Gabryl, part-time instructor of ceramics and design, recently exhibited at the American Crafts Council's fair in Dallas, Tex.

Dr. William Burrell, Vice President/Dean of Faculty, will present the accreditation report on Hellenic College to the Commission on Higher Education, New England Association of Schools and Colleges in Worcester, Mass. on April 25. Dr. Burrell chaired an evaluation team to Hellenic College last October.

Brother John Buckley, Professor of History, recently attended a symposium on the presidency of John F. Kennedy at Hofstra University, Hempstead, N.Y.

Diane Caplin, Director of Academic Advising, and John Rok, Director of Counseling Services, presented a program entitled, "Orientation, Advising and Tutorial Assistance: Orchestrating for Successful Student Development," at the national convention of the American College Personnel Association recently held in Boston. The presentation detailed Salve Regina College efforts in the areas mentioned and offered an overview of the first-year experience. The convention drew over 2,500 participants from across the United States and several foreign countries.

Dr. Ascanio DiPippo, Professor of Chemistry, was recently an evaluator for the Ciba-Geigy Science Internship at the Ciba-Geigy Corporation in Cranston, R.I.

Dr. Laurel End, Assistant Professor of Psychology, has had a paper she presented at the Midwestern Psychological Association Meeting in May 1984 included in the data base of "Resources in Education" (ERIC). Her contribution, entitled, "Unearthing Grounds: Some Studies of Metaphor Comprehension, was announced in a recent issue of "Resources in Education."

Brother Victor Hickey, Professor of Education, is listed as project consultant in the most recently published "The Catholic High School: A National Portrait," the most comprehensive study to date of the Catholic high schools in the United States. Brother Victor is also listed as a site visitor in the "Exemplary Private School Recognition Project, 1983-1984," a recently published brochure that summarizes the work of the project that resulted in the selection of 60 private schools as "exemplary private schools." The project is funded by the U.S. Department of Education and managed by the Council for American Private Education. Brother Victor has agreed to serve as independent consultant to the project during the 1984-85 school year. In that capacity he made an on-site visit to the Ursuline Academy in Dedham, Mass. earlier this month.

Brother Victor recently attended the New York District Chapter of the Christian Brothers as an elected delegate.

Father Eugene Hillman, Professor of Liberal Studies, has been invited by the National Conference of Catholic Bishops to help in the preparation of their pastoral statement, to be issued next year, on the Church's missionary activity. Aside from his missionary service in Africa for 23 years, Father Hillman's several scholarly books and numerous articles, published in several languages, have earned him an international reputation as a theologian of global vision. Currently Father Hillman teaches social ethics in the Graduate Degree Program in International Relations, and most of his students are middle-rank officers from the U.S. Naval War College in Newport.

Kitty Rok, Department of Special Education, recently attended a conference in Boston sponsored by the Learning Disabilities Foundation. The conference was entitled, "Frontiers of Research: Understanding the Language and Learning Disabled Child."
