NORTHEASTERN INTERSTATE CONFERENCE
ON NURSING EDUCATION AT SALVE
REGINA COLLEGE

The Northeastern Interstate Conference of nursing students, sponsored by the Student Nurses Association of Rhode Island, will start tonight, Thursday, November 12, on the campus of Salve Regina College in Newport.

Sixty-three representatives from fourteen states, from Maine to West Virginia, will meet at St. Joseph's Hospital in Providence for a coffee hour and will then be transported by bus to Salve Regina College.

Friday the group will be welcomed by Sister Mary Augustine, R.S.M., Director of the College's Nursing Division, and will also hear greetings from the Rhode Island State Nurses Association and the Rhode Island League for Nursing.

The luncheon speaker will be the Honorable John E. Fogarty, Congressman from Rhode Island.

NORTHEASTERN INTERSTATE CONFERENCE ON NURSING EDUCATION AT SALVE REGINA COLLEGE

Friday afternoon and all day Saturday

there will be a general business meeting, state group conferences, interstate exchange of ideas, and an advisers' conference--both on the Salve Regina Campus and at the Newport Hospital.

The advisers and observers from the seven schools of nursing in Rhode Island plus future nurse organizations of the State will bring the total attending the conference to nearly 100.

Miss Maureen McElroy, Salve Regina College Class of 1965, of 145 Front Street, Lincoln, R. I., President of the Student Nurses Association of Rhode Island, and treasurer of the national organization, will act as chairman. Miss Joan Gleckel, Salve Regina College Class of 1965, of 630 Stuart Avenue, Mamaroneck, N. Y., will be the SNARI delegate from Salve Regina. The Newport Hospital School of Nursing will be represented by Miss Marilyn Thompson.
