WAKEHURST CAMPUS CENTER

On September 15, Salve Regina officially unveiled the new Wakehurst Campus Center. Wakehurst, located on Ochre Point Avenue, has been used in recent years by the College as a student residence.

During the summer months a shifting of space has occurred, designed to centralize student recreational facilities as well as student service offices.

Under the supervision of Dean of Students John Rok and Ron Atkins, Director of the Wakehurst Campus Center and College Activities, the building now contains a snack bar, an international house, an exercise room, study areas and recreation rooms with assorted games and a large screen television. A variety of conference facilities and meeting rooms are also available for campus organizations and groups.

Also housed at Wakehurst are a number of Salve's student service offices including the Dean of Students, Residence, Career Planning and Placement, College Activities, Off Campus Living and Housing.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

OPEN HOUSE

Salve Regina will hold its annual open house for prospective students on Sunday, September 28 from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. The afternoon is designed for high school, junior and community college students, and parents, who are interested in learning more about the College. Registration will begin at 12:30 p.m. in Ochre Court.

Faculty members and staff will be available to discuss programs of study, athletics, career planning and placement, financial aid, residential life and student activities. Trolley tours of the College's 65-acre campus will be available with Salve students serving as guides. For further information contact the Admissions Office at extension 233.

NOON CONCERT SERIES TO OPEN WITH JOE PARILLO ENSEMBLE

Music by the Joe Parillo Ensemble will be featured at the premier performance of this year's Noon Concert Series at Salve Regina on Wednesday, October 1.

The six-member group is led by pianist and composer Joe Parillo who is widely known for his 1983 album, "Songbook." The ensemble plays original jazz compositions. A former student of Pat Metheny, Hal Crook and Charlie Banacos, Parillo's music is a unique blend of soft, yet uptempo jazz.

Other musicians in the ensemble include: Bruce Abbott, saxophone; Wendy Klein, flute; Joe Mowatt, percussion; Rick Andre, drums; and Alan Bernstein, bass.

In its third year, the Noon Concert Series has grown steadily in patron support. Concerts are scheduled for the first Wednesday of each month when the College is in session during the '86-'87 academic year.

The concert, open to the public and free of charge, begins at noon in Cecilia Hall which is located in Carey Mansion on Ruggles Avenue. Patrons are invited to bring a lunch and relax during the hour with this month's offering of contemporary jazz. The series will continue through May with a variety of performances and musical selections.

APPLICATIONS FOR OBSERVATION/PRACTICUM AND STUDENT TEACHING

Students planning to follow the Observation-Practicum during the January holidays or the spring semester, or the Student Teaching Program during the spring semester, 1987, must complete and file an application. Elementary and Secondary applications are given to Sr. Corinne Walsh and Special Education applications are given to Sr. Kathryn Murphy. Please note that if you wish to follow an Observation-Practicum or Student Teaching program in both Education and Special Education, you must file separate applications for each program.

To apply for Observation-Practicum or Student Teaching, you must have written a letter of application to the Department Chair of Education and/or Special Education and received a letter of acceptance in response. If you have not written that letter, submit it with your application, stating the reasons why you have chosen Education or Special Education as your major.

Applications for Elementary and Secondary Education are on the bulletin board outside Sr. Corinne's office (203, Angelus) and for Special Education outside Sr. Kathryn's office (206, Angelus).
