ETHEL BARRYMORE COLT TO BE ARTIST IN RESIDENCE AT SALVE REGINA COLLEGE SUMMER DRAMA WORKSHOP

Ethel Barrymore Colt, noted actress and concert singer, will be the Artist in Residence at the Drama Workshop being conducted this summer at Salve Regina College, Newport, from June 27 through August 5.

Ethel Barrymore Colt is a name backed by great tradition in the American theater. Against this backdrop she has carved out for herself a distinguished thirty-year career in the theatrical and musical profession.

She played as an actress with her mother, Ethel Barrymore, and with Eva LaGallienne and Judith Anderson. She successfully operated a touring repertory theater for five years, playing classics in colleges and schools. She has lectured extensively on theater history and music throughout the college circuit. Having studied singing and repertoire under some of the country's leading teachers, Ethel Barrymore Colt has appeared in opera, light opera, and several hundred concerts in the U. S. , Canada, and Europe.

She has a summer home, Linden Place, in Bristol, R. I. , and conducts a Summer School there when she teaches singing and public speaking and gives courses in stage technique and musical theater. Keeping abreast of today's theories and theater practices, she is currently enrolled in the Directors Workshop and Uta Hagens Acting Classes at Berghoff Studio.

The Workshop, under the direction of Miss Joan David of the Salve Regina College faculty, well known in the area for her brilliant productions of Tidings, Sound of Music, and The King and I, is for college students interested in dramatics and for teachers who will produce school plays.

It will be divided into three sections:

Directing and Producing Workshop, Producing the School Play, and Acting. Participants may select two sections for concentration (6 credit hours), but will take part in all of the related activities of the Workshop. The Workshop may also be taken without college credit.

It is open to men and women, and residence facilities are available for women. Further details may be obtained from the Director of the Summer Session, Salves Regina College.
