AT SALVE REGINA COLLEGE*IMMEDIATELY

Salve Regina College celebrates its annual

Father-Daughter Weekend beginning Saturday morning, October 21, with registration at Ochre Court at 9:15. The day's events include classes and other special events in the morning followed by a buffet luncheon in Miley Hall. A new feature this year is the Dorm Decorating Contest, the winner of which will receive a special award from the Father's Council. Traditional awards will also go to the two classes with the largest proportional representation of fathers.

Afternoon activities commence with a general

Fathers' Council meeting at Mercy Hall beginning at 1:30 p. m. presided over by the President, Dr. Thomas P. White of Belmont, Mass. Sister Mary Emily, R.S.M., President of the College, will extend greetings to the group and Judith Cadigan, '69, will present the daughters' welcome to their fathers. The business meeting will be followed by meetings of fathers from the various areas represented. On the lighter side of the afternoon program will be tours of the new academic building, O'Hare Academic Center and visiting the various dormitories to view the special decorations.

Saturday evening festivities get underway with class dinners at various Newport establishments. The climax of the evening will be the traditional Father-Daughter Ball in the Great Hall at Ochre Court.

The weekend concludes on Sunday, October 22, with Mass celebrated at De La Salle Academy Gym by Rev. Anthony Rebeiro of the College faculty assisted by Rev. John Reilly, College chaplain. Breakfast in the main dining room at Miley Hall brings the weekend to a close.
