FOR RELEASE - Thursday, April 17th

"The Mass in honor of Saint Nicholai" by Joseph Haydn and "The Mass in G Minor" for solo and double chorus by Ralph Vaughan Williams will be presented at Salve Regina College Friday night in a joint glee club concert by Salve and the Episcopal Theological School Chorus.

The Men's Chorus consists of the members of the Episcopal Theological School (affiliated with Harvard University), the Weston (Jesuit) School, and the Andover-Newton (Congregational) Theological School, all member schools of the Boston Theological Institute.

At present the chorus has 35 members. In its membership it has a former tenor soloist of the Yale Glee Club, and also past members of Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Redlands Glee Clubs, to mention a few. This is the first season in which the chorus has sung with a women's chorus.

Alastair Cassels-Brown, director of the Boston Chorus and Marian W. Van Slyke, director of the Newport Chorus will share with the directing.

Local students taking part are Mary Jane Fludder, Judy Gifford, and Mary Alice Johann.

The program will be presented in Ochre Court on the Salve Regina College Newport campus Friday, April 18, at 8:30 P.M. Admission one dollar for adults and seventy five cents for students.

The director of the Men's Chorus was director of music at St. George's school from 1952-1955. When at St. George's, he wrote an anthem dedicated to Marian W. Van Slyke and the First Presbyterian Church Choir, and later he dedicated a Christmas Carol to them both, published by H. W. Gray.
