THE NEWPORT COLLEGE -SALVE REGINA PROFESSOR RECEIVES FIRST MARYKNOLL FELLOWSHIP

The Chairman of the Department of Religious Studies at The Newport College - Salve Regina, Newport, Rhode Island, will receive tomorrow (April 21) one of the first Mission Study Fellowships awarded by the Catholic Foreign Mission Society of America (Maryknoll).

The Newport College professor, Rev. Eugene Hillman, C.S.Sp., a Holy Ghost Father, will be honored along with six other Fellowship recipients at a dinner reception at Maryknoll headquarters in Ossining, New York.

Following the dinner, each award recipient will give a brief presentation of his proposed research and its relevance to contemporary mission. Father Hillman will discuss his proposed study concerning Roman Catholic missionary activity among nomadic peoples in Kenya: the Masai, the Turkana, the Borana.

The first Walsh-Price Fellowship for Mission Study and Research, sponsored by the Maryknoll Center for Mission Studies, honors Bishop
