Membership in the Newport Historical Society is renewed annually. Those interested in becoming members are cordially invited to contact the Society or visit its website at www.newporthistorical.org. Newport History is published twice a year by the Newport Historical Society Museum and Library with assistance of a grant from the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, Donald Carcieri, Governor, and support from the Hugh D. Auchincloss III Fund at the Rhode Island Foundation. Articles appearing in Newport History are abstracted in Historical Abstracts and/or America: History and Life published by the American Biographical Center. Newport History solicits original articles on any aspect of Newport County history. Please contact Newport Historical Society headquarters.

Newport Historical Society Resources, Programs and Collections

The Newport Historical Society has maintained a Library and Museum of Newport and Rhode Island history since its incorporation in 1854. For over 150 years, the Society has grown in its membership, and in the extent and diversity of its collections, which contain a wealth of information for researchers.

Society activities include lectures, exhibits, guided and self-guided walking tours, educational outreach programs and special events such as the annual Newport Antiques Show.

The 1762 Brick Market at 127 Thames Street was designed in the Palladian style by Peter Harrison, considered the first American architect. Now the Brick Market Museum & Shop, it is the place to start for Newport's unique and exciting story, told through exhibits from the collections of the Newport Historical Society.

The Colony House on Washington Square was built in 1739, and quickly became the cultural and political center of Colonial Rhode Island. It has been the scene of dramatic events, including landmark trials, a reading from the balcony of the Declaration of Independence, the state's Election Day festivities, and a reception for the visiting George Washington hosted by French General Rochambeau. Tours are offered seasonally by Newport Historical Society Guides.

The Great Friends Meeting House at Farewell and Marlborough Streets was built in 1699. Rhode Island's oldest surviving house of worship is an exceptionally fine example of early architecture. During the early 1700s it was one of the largest and most recognizable buildings in town, a symbol of the political, cultural, and economic dominance of Newport's Quakers. Tours are offered seasonally by Newport Historical Society Guides.

The Wanton-Lyman-Hazard House at 17 Broadway is one of Newport's oldest surviving residences, built circa 1697 and the site of the infamous Stamp Act Riot of 1765. This fully restored example of early Colonial architecture is furnished with period decorative arts and furniture. Tours are offered seasonally by Newport Historical Society Guides.

For information on tours, programs, exhibits and properties please call 401-846-0813 or visit www.newporthistorical.org.

Hours: The Historical Society is open to the public Tuesday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday 9:30 a.m. to noon. Appointments are strongly recommended for research.
