Newport Historical Society Resources, Programs and Collections

The Newport Historical Society has maintained a Library and Museum of Newport and Rhode Island history since its incorporation in 1854. For over 150 years, the Society has grown in its membership, and in the extent and diversity of its collections, which contain a wealth of information for researchers.

Society activities include lectures, exhibits, guided and self-guided walking tours, educational outreach programs and special events such as the annual Newport Antiques Show.

The 1762 Brick Market at 127 Thames Street was designed in the Palladian style by Peter Harrison, considered the first American architect. Now the Brick Market Museum & Shop, it is the place to start for Newport's unique and exciting story, told through exhibits from the collections of the Newport Historical Society.

The Colony House on Washington Square was built in 1739, and quickly became the cultural and political center of Colonial Rhode Island. It has been the scene of dramatic events, including landmark trials, a reading from the balcony of the Declaration of Independence, the state's Election Day festivities, and a reception for the visiting George Washington hosted by French General Rochambeau. Tours are offered seasonally by Newport Historical Society Guides.

The Great Friends Meeting House at Farewell and Marlborough Streets was built in 1699. Rhode Island's oldest surviving house of worship is an exceptionally fine example of early architecture. During the early 1700s it was one of the largest and most recognizable buildings in town, a symbol of the political, cultural, and economic dominance of Newport's Quakers. Tours are offered seasonally by Newport Historical Society Guides.

The Wanton-Lyman-Hazard House at 17 Broadway is one of Newport's oldest surviving residences, built circa 1697 and the site of the infamous Stamp Act Riot of 1765. This fully restored example of early Colonial architecture is furnished with period decorative arts and furniture. Tours are offered seasonally by Newport Historical Society Guides.

For information on tours, programs, exhibits and properties please call 401-846-0813 or visit www.newporthistorical.org.

Hours: The Historical Society is open to the public Tuesday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday 9:30 a.m. to noon. Appointments are strongly recommended for research.

JANUARY
Fashioning Her World: A Shopkeeping Widow in 18th Century Newport
Wednesday, January 27, 2010, 6pm
Christina J. Hodge, Ph.D., discusses her research on Elizabeth Pratt, a mid-18th-century Newport woman. A widow and shopkeeper, Pratt had her shop and resided on the site of the Newport Historical Society’s Wanton-Lyman-Hazard House grounds on Broadway.

FEBRUARY
Fashionable Folks: Hairstyles 1840-1900
Saturday, February 20, 2010, 3pm
Today’s hairstyles may seem new and unique, but are actually rooted in history. Maureen Taylor, author of FASHIONABLE FOLKS: HAIRSTYLES 1840-1900, presents her work on the evolution of hairstyles, including facial hair, illustrating her talk with 19th century photographs.

APRIL
Scrimshaw of Rhode Island
Thursday, April 29, 2010, 6pm
Stuart M. Frank, Ph.D., Senior Curator of the New Bedford Whaling Museum, will discuss the unique nature of Rhode Island scrimshaw and include examples from the collections of the Newport Historical Society. The program will conclude with Dr. Frank and two members of his Scrimshaw Forensics Laboratory® team, Richard Donnelly and Vasant Gideon, conducting appraisals of your scrimshaw items.

MAY
Chocolate in Colonial Newport
Thursday, May 6, 2010, 6pm
Rhode Island and Newport were important in the chocolate trade of the American colonies. Rabbi Deborah Prinz will discuss cacao in the colonial period and the pioneering role that Jewish merchants played in the production, trade and retail business of chocolate.

All programs take place at the Colony House on Washington Square. For additional event details call 401-846-0813 or 401-841-8770.
