PRESIDENT McKILLOP
FEATURED ON FRONT COVER OF OCEAN STATE BUSINESS

Congratulations are in order for President Lucille McKillop who was featured in an article on the front page of Ocean State Business in the August 15 - 28 edition. The article, "At Salve Regina, President McKillop works a miracle," featured a quarter page photo of Sister Lucille against the elegant backdrop of the balcony of Ochre Court. Written by reporter Robert Holtzman, the six page article discussed the successful 15-year tenure of the President and the development of Salve Regina over that time.

Although every office in the College was sent an original magazine, reprints will be available sometime in October. Call Lori Evangelos Kershner, Director of Public Relations, at extension 266 for further information.

IN MEMORIAM

The College community mourns the death of Dr. Dorothy Troendle, a Professor of English at the College for 23 years. Dr. Troendle came to Salve Regina in 1965 as an associate professor. Her expert knowledge of linguistics and its relations to criminal investigation, as well as her familiarity with the technique of voice identification had earned her national recognition from law enforcement professionals.

Dr. Troendle received a B.Ed. from Rhode Island College, an M.A. and Ph.D. from Brown University and also pursued postdoctoral studies in linguistics at Harvard. A very dedicated teacher, Dr. Troendle earned the respect of her students and colleagues. Although very ill, she insisted on teaching her last class. She will be greatly missed by the community.

A memorial mass will be offered for Dr. Troendle in Ochre Court Chapel on Wednesday, September 28, at 12:05 p.m. All members of the College community are welcome to attend this special liturgy.

CERAMICS EXHIBITION AT MCKILLOP GALLERY DURING U.S. TOUR

Currently on display at Salve Regina's McKillop Gallery are works from the Juried Member's Exhibition of the National Council for Education on the Ceramic Arts (NCECA). The show will run through September 27.

This sixth juried exhibition will travel throughout 1988-89, showcasing the finest work of NCECA members to a national audience. From a field of 350 entries the jurors had to select 35 pieces. Said juror Jacquie Rice, "It became clear that we had a very strong group when we winnowed our selections down to 65 pieces ... then the painful aspect of jurying set in -- to chose between the chosen."

Juror Val Cushing echoed the difficulty of the selection process adding, "We juried without knowing the names of the artists, so I can tell you that the quality of the work was the only criteria for acceptance. We were able to pick a fairly well balanced show, one that honors diversity.

The McKillop Gallery, located in Mercy Hall on the corner of Leroy and Lawrence Avenues, is open Tuesday through Friday from 11:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and Sunday from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m.

HOLISTIC COUNSELING DEPARTMENT
PRESENTS
"THE JOB FOR MY LIFE" WORKSHOP

The Holistic Counseling Department will present a non-credit workshop entitled "The Job For My Life" on Saturday, October 1 from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on the College campus. The workshop will explore how one can integrate personal and professional values in selecting a career path truly consistent with ones work and life preferences. It is open to graduates and current students enrolled in the Holistic Counseling program and other interested persons.

Michael E. Collins, M.S. and Barbara V. Wheeler, R.N., M.A., Co-Directors and Holistic Counselors at the Community Resource and Renewal Center, will present the workshop. In their practice, both have assisted many individuals with career transition and re-entry issues using value-based career discernment methods.

The workshop will employ four tests, including Myers-Briggs, which will help determine a person's career interests, skills, values and work preferences. The tests will be made available to registrants for self-administration prior to the workshop and must be returned for scoring and evaluation before then. Pre-registration and fee payments are required by September 19. For information call Dr. Jack Childs, Director of the Human Development Graduate Program, at extension 250.

SALVE REGINA INTRODUCES NEW CAREER/LIFE PLANNING COURSE

Salve Regina's Career Planning and Placement Office is introducing a new, one-credit course entitled "Career/Life Planning" starting in September. The course will be offered in the 1988-89 fall and spring semesters. In addition, it will be available on a weekend during November. It is open to both students of the College and the general public.

Sponsored by the College's Sociology Department, the course will be taught by the Director of Career Planning and Placement Mrs. Bernice Whitaker. According to Mrs. Whitaker, the purpose of the course is to introduce students to career information as they pursue their academic degrees. "This course will give students the opportunity to expand their self-awareness, explore their goals and interface these discoveries with available career options," she said.

For registration information, call the Registrar's Office at extension 226. For further information on the course, call the College Placement Office at extension 495.

STUDENT NEWS

Gladys Lizette Chian, '88 medical technology graduate, was the recipient of the Olive Redden Memorial Prize in hematology from Rhode Island Hospital. There were only two awards given by the Hospital. Lizette was also nominated for the second.

During the summer months, Deirdre Goulding, sophomore financial management major, won three championships in Irish Step Dancing. At Newport's Annual Irish Fest, she finished first in Rhode Island State Championships and first in the Senior Ladies Championship. Later, in San Francisco, Deirdre clinched the North American Championship title for the second consecutive year.

Roni Riggins, a senior anthropology major, participated in her first archeological excavation during the summer months. The excavation, sponsored by the Public Archeology Laboratory, Inc. took place in Warwick, R.I., on Lambert Farm. Prehistoric artifacts were uncovered at what is designated a Prehistoric Indian Site.

Roni was also the recipient of a United States National Collegiate Award in Social Sciences for the second consecutive year. The United States Achievement Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American college students. Roni will appear in the United States Achievement Official Collegiate Yearbook, published nationally.

Alison Shakarian, '87 biology graduate, was awarded an $8,000 graduate stipend plus tuition and fees remission of more than $5,000 from the Medical College of Virginia where she is pursuing doctoral studies in microbiology.

NOON CONCERT SERIES OPENS WITH JAZZ-HARPIST/COMPOSER

The Noon Concert Series will open the season with jazz harpist/composer Deborah Henson-Conant, an award-winning arranger, composer and recording artist, on Wednesday, October 5 in Cecilia Hall. Henson-Conant will be accompanied by a jazz trio ensemble from Cambridge. The Noon Concerts are free and open to the College community and general public.

Henson-Conant performs a unique style of jazz, drawing on her classical background for intricate improvisations, while using techniques such as guitar picks and metal bar slides on the strings for a contemporary presentation of the instrument. Her compositions include solo and ensemble jazz pieces, musical theatre, cabaret, operetta and concert works for soprano, harp and chamber ensemble.

One of only two jazz harpist in the country, Henson-Conant is a two-time winner of the prestigious Massachusetts Artists Fellowship in Music Composition and recipient of a National Endowment for the Arts grant for Jazz Study. One of the featured performers at the 1987 American Harp Society Conference in Pittsburgh, Penn., she has recorded for RCA as guest artist on the album "Moonray" by jazz pianist Adam Makowicz. Her recordings include jazz and jazz impressionism (with an ensemble), children's songs for voice and harp. A native of California, the harpist received her Bachelor of Music degree at the University of California at Berkeley.
