JAZZ HARPIST TO OPEN SEASON'S NOON CONCERTS

The Noon Concert Series will open the season with jazz harpist/composer Deborah Henson-Conant, an award-winning arranger, composer and recording artist, on Wednesday, October 5 in Cecilia Hall. The Noon Concert is open to the general public and admission is free.

Henson-Conant's compositions include solo and ensemble jazz pieces, musical theatre, cabaret, operetta and concert works for soprano, harp, and chamber ensemble. She performs a unique style of jazz, drawing on her classical background for intricate improvisations, while using techniques such as guitar picks and metal bar slides on the strings for a contemporary presentation of the instrument. Ray Murphy of The Boston Globes writes "... at times her harp sounds like a jazz piano with a diaphanous resonance, or a guitar with a built-in reverb and 300 strings" (10/16/84).

One of only two jazz harpists in the country, Henson-Conant is a two-time winner of the prestigious Massachusetts Artist Fellowship in Music Composition and recipient of a National Endowment for the Arts grant for Jazz Study. One of the featured performers at the 1987 American Harp Society Conference in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, she has recorded for RCA as guest artist on the album "Moonray" by jazz pianist Adam Makowicz. Her recordings include jazz and jazz impressionism (with an ensemble) and children's songs for voice and harp.

HANDICAP PARKING

The Security/Safety Office would like to remind all the members of the College community that "HANDICAP PARKING SPACES" are reserved for those persons who have a permanent or temporary physical disability which limits their ability to walk long distances. We would ask that all members of the faculty, staff and student body refrain from using handicap parking spaces for parking, passenger drop-off or pick-up, or for standing while making any kind of delivery. Security/Safety Department personnel have been instructed to monitor all handicap parking areas for unauthorized parked vehicles.
